

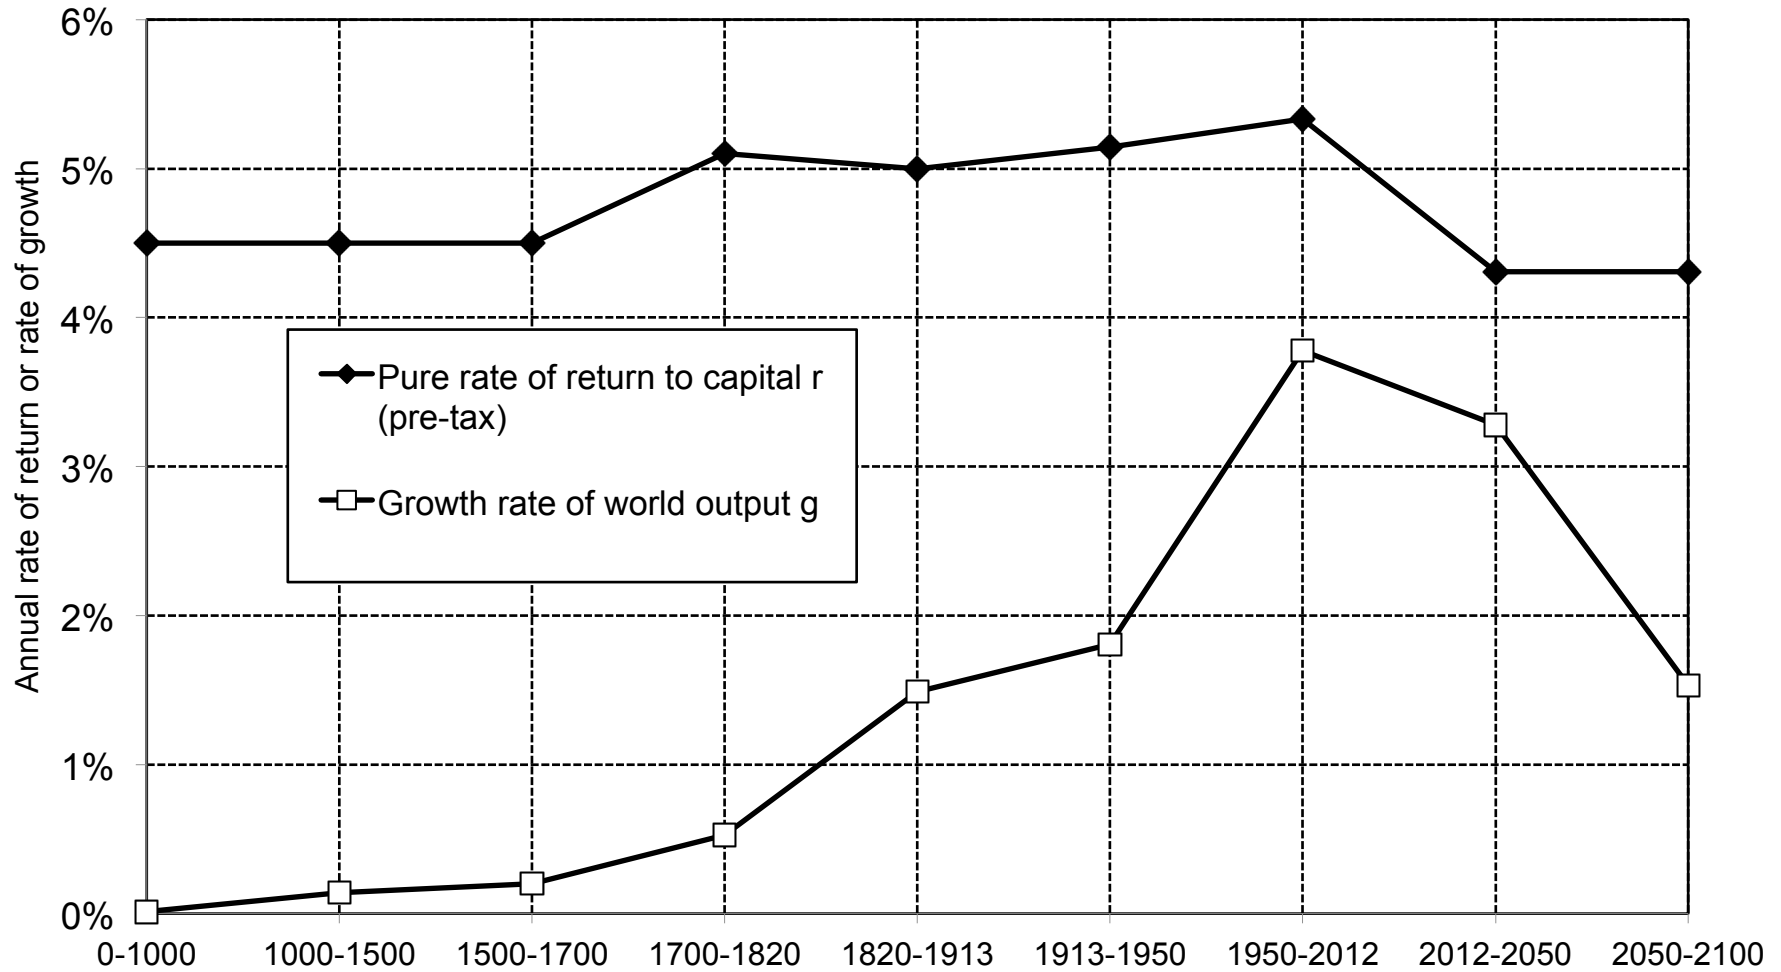

Figure 10.9. Rate of return vs. growth rate at the world level, from Antiquity until 2100

The rate of return to capital (pre-tax) has always been higher than the world growth rate, but the gap was reduced during the 20th century, and might widen again in the 21st century.

Sources and series: see piketty.pse.ens.fr/capital21c