

License and Authorization Key

Windows Software

This license is an important document. It represents your license from Stata Corporation to use the software described below. Three pieces of information on this document—the serial number, code, and authorization key—will be required during the installation process.

This license is a valuable proof of purchase for your software license. After using the information found here, you should store this license in a safe place for record keeping and license upgrade purposes.

Licensed software:	Intercooled Stata 6.0
License type:	2-user Windows (network)
License term:	Perpetual
Serial number:	196047324
Code:	5mw2 78a6 2$od 0pbz pgzr
Authorization key:	ba0L

L represents the letter L
O represents the letter o

1 represents the number one
0 represents the number zero

Note: Your code may contain the characters L, 1, o, and 0. L represents the letter L; 1 represents the number one. Similarly, o represents the letter O and 0 represents the number zero. When you type your code and authorization key into the computer, you may type in lowercase or capital letters; it does not matter. You may also omit or add spaces as you wish.

Notice to user: Please read the following carefully. By taking the positive action of entering the codes above into your computer and thus unlocking the software, Stata Corporation will assume that you have agreed to be bound by this agreement. If you do not accept the terms of the license, you must return the package to the Seller from whom you purchased it and your money will be refunded.

License. This software is protected by United States copyright law and international treaty provisions.

The software listed above may not be installed on a network unless the word network appears in the license type.

The license type also designates the number of authorized users. A single-user license allows the software to be used on more than one computer and by more than one person, but no more than one copy of the software may be used at the same time. A home and office computer, for instance, would meet this requirement. A two user license would allow up to two copies of the software to be used at the same time, and so on.

Stata Corporation authorizes the purchaser to make archival copies of the software for the sole purpose of backing-up the software in order to protect the purchaser's investment from loss.

Limited Warranty. The only warranty Stata Corporation makes is that the media on which the software is recorded will be replaced without charge if Stata Corporation determines that the media was defective and not subject to misuse, and if returned to Stata Corporation or the dealer from whom the software was purchased within 30 days of purchase.

Stata Corporation makes no other warranties, either expressed or implied, and Stata Corporation shall not be liable for warranties of fitness of purpose or merchantability, nor for the special, incidental, or consequential damages such as loss of profits or inability to use the software.

The remedy for breach of this warranty shall be limited to replacement of the media and shall not encompass any other damages.

Sole Agreement and Governing Law. This is the only agreement between the purchaser and Stata Corporation and it cannot be modified unless a written amendment has been signed by one of our company officers. This license shall be construed, interpreted, and governed by Texas law.